Police Chief Comments

Meet Casandra Ames. She is originally from Mexico. Graduated from ISU with a degree in sociology. Started working in Story County

Casandra Ames works to make the city of Ames into a more inclusive place. She collabs with other organizations who are already around like ARCH or Ames Humans Relations Commissions.

There is no such team yet but right now she says that they need to get a pre consultation with the county and understand what she needs. Once she is there she will definitely get in touch with people to get a team together.

Chief Huff commented about diversity and how it could potentially help in the workplace and how people who have different cultures can help with understanding.

Next was Police Chief Huffs active shooter slides

He went over some slides about active shooter response.

The first few slides went over how one would respond to a hijacking pre-september 11 and active shooters and how O.O.D.A Loop response plays out.

Other slides went over the incidents such as how they act and what a shooter will likely do. Pre-incidents were also discussed which are the warning signs or how to predict one's actions. Stressors and other signs. Concerning behavior was also discussed and how you should say something if you see something.
